THE RESIDENT
MYSORE

BANGALORE.

January 4. 1900

My dear Dewar:

The question as to what Troops allowance we have drawn on this tour with the Maharajah has yet to be settled. He will not have to pay anything for Railway fares, but of course touring about is always expensive, and if you see no objection he might draw with I understand in the temporarily - viz. single first class fare for journeys by Railway and a Letting Allowance of £7. 8 p.d. when work transferring -

Kindly let me know whether you agree -

Yours

My dear Col: Robertson

Dr. Fraser can of course draw, as you propose, single first class fare for Railway journeys in Special trains and a halting allowance of Rs 7½ per diem for days not spent in travelling. This is I believe the Rule under the British Civil Service Regulations. He can also draw the allowance as per same Regulations for journey by steamer.

Yours &c
